

Credential Registry Learn and Build Summit Event Guidelines and Schedule

The Summit is designed to enable deeper collaborations and learning across a diverse network of stakeholders in order to collectively deepen understanding, develop strategies and design solutions to support the ongoing work of all present.

The following are some general guidelines regarding how the event will be run:

- The agenda is malleable. Sessions will be proposed and moved around to accommodate requests by both participants and facilitators. All break times are approximate.
- Many session topics and outcomes are being sourced from pre-event input from participants. We welcome additional session proposals, as long as they are not lecture or slideware-based and they focus on collaboration, co-creation and sharing of knowledge.
- Full participation in the program is requested; part-time participation will work against the overall event goals. In particular, we ask all participants to refrain from scheduling side meetings during scheduled agenda times. We ask that each participant utilize their seat at the meeting to the fullest for the benefit of all.
- This is a "devices at ease" event: use of laptops and cellphones during sessions is strongly discouraged unless you are a designated note taker. We encourage all participants to be fully present in sessions and discussions, rather than multitasking on email etc. We invite participants to use the morning and afternoon breaks, as well as the lunch hour, to check in with external realities.
- Notes will be dynamically captured during sessions. We will be asking each participant to help capture notes in at least one session, so as to spread the work around evenly.

Overall, all phases of the agenda are designed to be highly interactive. This isn't a meeting where you will see any panels and keynote speakers. Breakout sessions will be designed to spur discussion. Facilitators understand that their primary goal is to enable learning, address questions, and support peer sharing.

Bring your ideas to build on with others, your questions to translate to answers, and your knowledge to share!
